

CV

Clarissa Haller served most recently as Head of Corporate Communications at Credit Suisse AG in Zurich. Previously she was Head of Group Communications at ABB, also headquartered in Zurich.

Clarissa Haller graduated from the University of Munich, Germany, with a MA in German literature, art history and American history and philology. She started her professional career as a journalist with print and broadcasting media before making the move to corporate communications.

From 1989 to 1995 she held various communications functions at Daimler-Benz Aerospace AG (today Airbus AG) in Munich. From 1995 to 2001 she headed the corporate communications department of Bahlsen KG in Hannover. From 2001 to 2006 she worked as Global Head of Communications at Roche Diagnostics in Basel, Switzerland.

As of May 11, 2016
Siemens AG