Pay as you use software

Includes implementation and roll-out costs

Simple and easy to use

A smart way to pay for software

Siemens' range of financing for software has been designed to support food and beverage OEMs and manufacturers improve their digitalization process and make information driven decisions that enable efficiencies across your business. With Software Finance from Siemens, you pay for software as you use it – giving you all the benefits that digitalization offers without the up-front cost.

Finance your entire roll-out costs

Beyond software licenses, Software Finance for food and beverage OEMs and manufacturers includes the installation and roll-out costs of software. It's all covered by one simple arrangement with Siemens.

Payments matched to benefits

There's no need to invest a lump sum long before you see the outcome from software. Instead, let the software pay for itself. With Software Finance, predictable and affordable payments match the benefits of use over time.

Spread the cost of Siemens software with Software Finance

How Software Finance works

1. Choose the software solution your business needs

Enjoy the benefits of use through a tailored finance plan with payments over time.

2. Siemens arranges the software

Implement your new software and put it straight to work.

3. Make affordable payments

You make simple monthly or quarterly payments to Siemens.

4. Upgrade or add on

If your needs change, we can help you adapt your payment plan to fit.

Thanks to SFS's budget compliant financing of our processing technology, we are taking a forward-looking step that our customers will also profit from.
