

Helmuth Ludwig, Dr. sc. phil.

- Chief Information Officer (CIO) of Siemens AG and head of Global Services Information Technology
- Born on September 19, 1962 in Koeln, Germany

Education

- Master degree of industrial engineering from the University of Karlsruhe, Germany
- Master of Business Administration from the University of Chicago, USA
- Doctorate from the Christian-Albrechts-University in Kiel, Germany
- Adjunct Professor "International Corporate Strategy", Southern Methodist University, Dallas, USA

Professional history

1990

- Siemens AG, Corporate Development Department, Munich, Germany
– Regional Strategies

1993

- Siemens Kazakhstan
– General Manager

1996

- Siemens Automation and Drives Group, Karlsruhe, Germany
– General Manager Process Automation "Teleperm"

1998

- Siemens Energy and Industry Division, Argentina
– President

2001

- Siemens Software and System House Division, Nuremberg, Germany
– President

2002

- Siemens Automation and Drives Group, Systems Engineering Division
Fuerth, Germany
– President

2007

- Siemens PLM Software, Inc., Plano, Texas, USA
– President

2011

- Siemens Industry Sector, North America
– President and CEO

2014

- Siemens Digital Factory Division, Product Lifecycle Management,
Plano, Texas, USA
– Executive Vice President and Chief Digital Officer

2016

- Siemens CIO