Change of Leadership at Siemens Communications

Clarissa Haller, Head of Global Communications at Siemens AG, is leaving the company by mutual agreement.

Effective immediately and until further notice, leadership of the communications function will be taken over by Judith Wiese, member of the Managing Board of Siemens AG responsible for Human Resources, Sustainability and Global Business Services.

"We thank Clarissa Haller for her performance and commitment to Siemens. Under her leadership, the function has developed very successfully, especially in the area of digital communications. We wish her all the best for the future," said Roland Busch, CEO of Siemens.

Clarissa Haller had taken over as Head of the Group on July 1, 2016.

Siemens AG (Berlin and Munich) is a global technology powerhouse that has stood for engineering excellence, innovation, quality, reliability and internationality for more than 170 years. Active around the world, the company focuses on intelligent infrastructure for buildings and distributed energy systems and on automation and digitalization in the process and manufacturing industries. Siemens brings together the digital and physical worlds to benefit customers and society. Through Mobility, a leading supplier of intelligent mobility solutions for rail and road transport, Siemens is helping to shape the world market for passenger and freight services. Via its majority stake in the publicly listed company Siemens Healthineers, Siemens is also a world-leading supplier of medical technology and digital health services. In addition, Siemens holds a minority stake in Siemens Energy, a global leader in the transmission and generation of electrical power that has been listed on the stock exchange since September 28, 2020.

In fiscal 2020, which ended on September 30, 2020, the Siemens Group generated revenue of €57.1 billion and net income of €4.2 billion. As of September 30, 2020, the company had around 293,000 employees worldwide. Further information is available on the Internet at www.siemens.com.
