Urban development competition for the Siemens Campus Erlangen

The judging panel

The winner of the urban development competition for the Siemens Campus Erlangen was selected by a judging panel. Comprising representatives of both public and private sectors, the panel reflects the interests of the State of Bavaria, the City of Erlangen, the political groupings on the city council and, of course, Siemens. The panel has been assisted by expert advisors in the fields of architecture, urban planning, sustainability, transport and landscape management. The members of the judging panel are introduced below.
