

Yao Zhenguo

Executive Vice President Siemens Ltd., China
General Manager, Gas and Power
Siemens Greater China

Yao Zhenguo is Executive Vice President and General Manager, Gas and Power, Siemens Greater China.

Yao joined Siemens Power Generation Group in China in 2001 as Sales Manager, responsible for sales of the steam and gas power plants in the region. He took over the position as Sales General Manager for new power plants in China in 2004, and achieved great business results since then in different business areas, including the first 1000MW steam power plant project, the first F-class gas turbine power plant project as well as the first 4.0 MW offshore wind power project. Meanwhile he has been members of Board of Directors in several Siemens joint ventures in China, driving development of local competence for required technology transfer and localization, which laid a strong foundation for the business development of the JVs.

During the period from May 2009 to September 2014, Yao held the position as General Manager of Siemens Energy China Fossil Power Generation Division and President Energy Sector, Siemens Ltd., China. Later afterwards he was heading Power & Gas Division, Siemens Greater China until taking the current position from April 1, 2019.
