Siemens and CLP sign MoU on smart energy initiatives

- Collaborate with CLP to explore and develop smart city and next generation energy initiatives
- Focus on areas of digitalized power generation, smart city solutions, smart grid applications and cyber security
- Jointly design, test and implement services and technologies to meet our future energy demand

Siemens Limited (Siemens) and CLP Innovation Enterprises Limited, a wholly-owned subsidiary of CLP Holdings Limited (CLP), have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to foster collaboration on exploring and developing smart city and next generation energy initiatives.

Like many metropolises globally, Hong Kong faces challenges brought about by the megatrends of climate change, urbanization, globalization and aging demographics. Technology and innovation promise to address these challenges by enhancing the city’s infrastructure and systems to improve the quality of living, sustainability, efficiency and safety. In the Hong Kong Smart City Consultation Report, the HKSAR Government outlines six potential themes where these could have positive impacts in Hong Kong such as Smart Mobility, Smart Environment, Smart Economy, Smart Citizen, Smart Living and Smart Government.
The Siemens and CLP partnership will focus on four key areas, namely digitalized power generation, smart city solutions, smart grid applications and cyber security. Riding on the data analytics and connectivity capabilities offered by Siemens Smart City Digital Hub at Hong Kong Science Park, the two companies will collaborate extensively to design, test and implement services and technologies that can meet our future energy demand in a safe, interactive and holistic view. The collaboration will foster an innovative ecosystem, offering start-ups and infrastructure providers like CLP an environment to create their digital portfolio and develop smart city solutions.

Mr. Cedrik Neike, Member of the Managing Board, Siemens AG, said, “We are very glad to collaborate with CLP, the leading power utility supplier in Asia Pacific. This collaboration realizes our ambition to play a role in Hong Kong’s smart city development and ensure its position as a world-class smart city.”

Mrs. Betty Yuen, Vice Chairman, CLP Power Hong Kong Limited, said, “Smart city development is a global trend. Digitalization is transforming all aspects of our city and our industry. CLP is committed to being at the forefront of these developments and we believe our collaboration with Siemens will help us to bring in the smartest solutions to our customers.”

As Hong Kong’s largest electricity supplier, CLP aims to support Hong Kong’s transformation into a smart city through providing a reliable, efficient and clean energy supply to its customers. The launch of a one-year pilot scheme early this year, Smart Energy Programme, for smart meters installed in 26,000 homes underlines CLP’s efforts to provide a critical element of infrastructure to facilitate the development of a smart grid, encourage smart living and support Hong Kong’s smart city vision. CLP also fully supports the Government’s Energizing Kowloon East Project and has established a pilot study of a Smart Energy Community.
With strong data analytics and connectivity capabilities in Smart City Digital Hub, Siemens and CLP will jointly develop smart city and smart grid solutions to make Hong Kong one of the world’s best places to live.
