

Scan to learn more about quick shipping options

PROCESS INSTRUMENTATION

When you need instruments, you need them now!

Same-day shipping available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.
Because in the process industry, every second counts!

usa.siemens.com/pi

Lead time is key in today's market – especially for your process instrumentation. You can't afford any downtime, whether it's from unforeseen damage to your facility or unexpected mechanical failure. Your process needs to operate on a continuous cycle, which means the measurement data used to monitor and control that process is critical and must be available at all times.

And, when it comes to project execution, having quick access to equipment can make or break your success. There's always potential for the scope to change, which can spur an immediate need for delivery of new products – essential for keeping your schedule on track and your costs down.

SIEMENS