

The Siemens logo is displayed in white, bold, uppercase letters in the top right corner of the image. The background of the entire advertisement is a server room with blue lighting and digital grid patterns overlaid on the scene. Two men are walking through the server racks in the middle ground, looking at each other and talking. The overall aesthetic is high-tech and professional.

Tailor finance to the pace of your migration

The migration to new technology often involves a structured roll-out and careful testing long before you get the benefits of use of the new installation. With Migration Service Finance from Siemens, manage the transition with ease and control costs with payments arranged based on how and when your technology becomes operational.

Only pay for technology you're using

Running old and new technology in parallel can be an effective way to reduce your operational risks – but it can be expensive. Migration Service Finance lets you defer the costs of operating your new systems while you're still using old ones, giving you more time to ensure a seamless migration to the new set up.

Smart finance

We recognize that implementing new technology and becoming more digitalized is a complex transition. That's why we take a smarter approach to finance, closely mirroring how you pay for technology with your real-world plans over time.

How Migration Service Finance works

1. Discuss your migration plan

With an understanding of the migration you face, we'll tailor a finance plan that aligns with your roll-out.

2. Install technology

Begin rolling out and testing your new technology alongside your old systems.

3. Make affordable payments

According to your circumstances, you make simple monthly or quarterly finance payments.

4. Upgrade or add on

If your needs change, we can help you adapt your payment plan to fit.

Despite Siemens Financial Services' scale, their local offices are independent in their decision-making. The project approval process is quick, and their colleagues are familiar with our sector-specific issues.

Ideal for phased rollouts

If you're implementing technology gradually, paying for it all at once can be a stretch for your organization. Migration Service Finance lets you make staged payments as you get the benefits of use in different areas of your business.

Ongoing relationships

Unlike traditional sources of finance, we understand the process of technology upgrade, digitalization and Industry 4.0. We'll help you finance your ongoing migration with built-in upgrade options to help you keep pace in a world of faster innovation cycles.

Making finance simple

We combine financial expertise with a uniquely industrial perspective, and a focus on keeping things simple. From our straightforward approval process to ongoing support to make things easier, we'll look after you every step of the way.
