Eva Schulz-Kamm appointed global head of Government Affairs at Siemens

Eva Schulz-Kamm (45) will assume global responsibility for Government Affairs at Siemens on April 15, 2017. Schulz-Kamm is currently head of Political Affairs & Public Co-Creation at NXP in Hamburg.

“With Ms. Schulz-Kamm, we’re pleased to be gaining an acknowledged technology and innovation expert who will provide new momentum for our dialogue with policymakers. Digitalization will bring about lasting changes in business and society and thus also in the regulatory environment. Government-to-government business is a key action area here and is of growing importance for our corporate strategy,” said Mariel von Schumann, Chief of Staff at Siemens.

Prior to her position at NXP, Schulz-Kamm served as senior government adviser at the German Federal Ministry of Education and Research. She had previously held management positions at various companies and organizations in the areas of energy and innovation. The mother of two holds a degree in physics and an MBA in innovation management and entrepreneurship from the EDHEC Business School in Nice, France.
