Siemens: trusted partner for innovative safe and compliant solutions

District Heating is at the core of the Government's strategy to decarbonise heat and, as a result, it is vital for customers that levels of efficiency are improved, and tariffs driven down across all new and existing projects. The adoption of appropriate quality standards within a future regulatory framework will pay dividends and Siemens is driving innovations that will see customers experience a positive decarbonisation journey.

We see District Heating as only part of the decarbonisation solution. Our global suite of deployed smart products and services offer clear opportunity to achieve far higher efficiency gains when integrated into District Heating schemes. Our solution provides a level of self-sufficiency and actively encourages this infrastructure to become a part of the future energy supply and generation model.

Service Offering

Siemens has created a centre of excellence to develop solutions that combat the relatively low level of energy security and self-generation of distributed energy solutions that exist across the UK today. Future energy supply and demand will operate very differently to what we currently experience, and distributed energy is a driver of Siemens' strategic direction. Our priority is our customers and we will continue to invest and develop new products and solutions to meet the challenges of the future.

Heat systems when complemented with renewable sources of energy, form the heart of an optimised system interlinking with other technologies and services, such as:

- Micro-Grid management platform
- Output based energy system
- Smart energy management solution
- SieStorage products
- Asset Management protection

Our team is happy to bring together knowledge and experience of Siemens products and services to support your business and understand how we can work together to meet your needs and requirements.
