

Our history in Angola

From the first delivery to a global technology powerhouse

1929

Delivery of control panel for transformer station in Maquela do Zombo

1953

Siemens supplies electrical and water measuring systems for water works in Luanda, Portuguese West Africa (Angola)

1954

Siemens authorizes Luso-Dana Ltda. in Luanda to serve as agency in Portuguese West Africa (Angola). Dissolved in 1963

1966

Responsibility for sales activities in Angola transferred to Siemens Portugal

1980s

Tecnidata in Luanda responsible for Siemens sales in Angola

1991

Angola is again co-supported from Portugal and managed as a sales office

2005

Business in Angola revived, initially with telecommunications products

2010

Siemens establishes a Regional Company in Angola, headquartered in Luanda

2012

Siemens wins order to maintain gas turbines for gas liquefaction plant belonging to Chevron / Sonangol – Angola LNG. Siemens supplies and installs a total of eight gas turbines at the plant

2013

Siemens builds four airports based on the CapacityPlus concept in the cities of Soyo, Dundo, Saurimo and Luena